

Surveillance

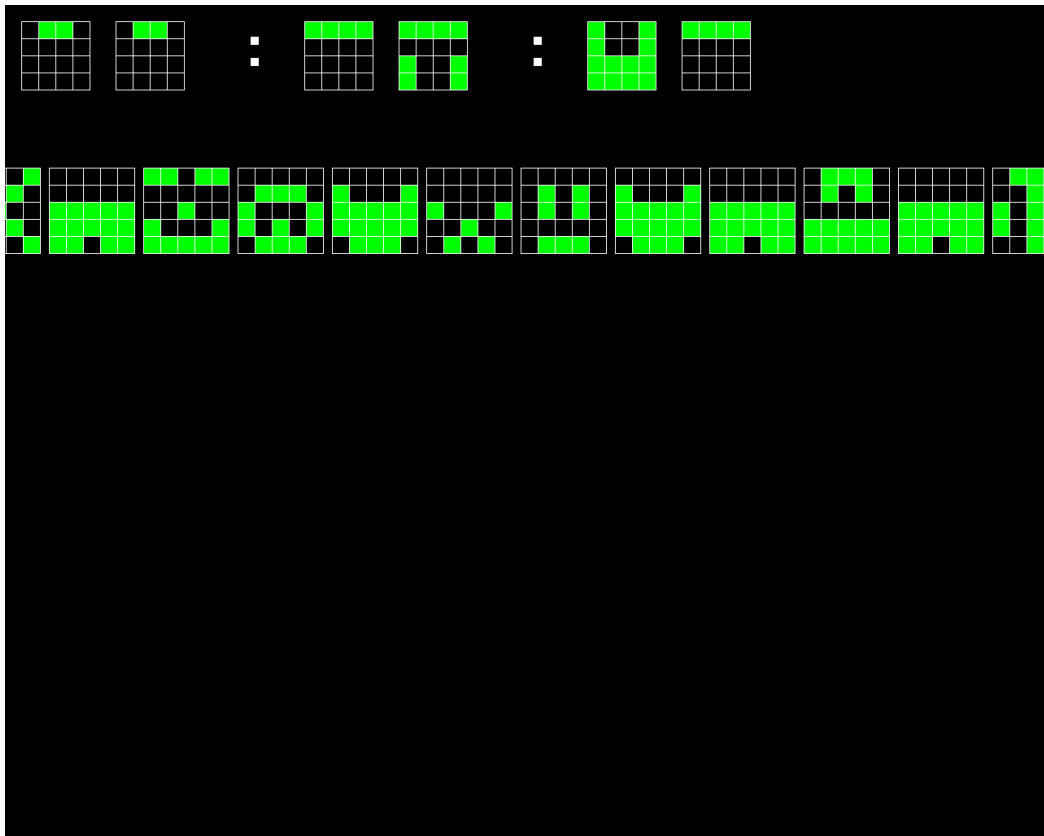

Professor Cramer had left his laptop near the window and his screensaver was fully visible from outside. Our agent saw a series of unintelligible symbols on the screensaver. Unfortunately, Professor Cramer's laptop has been moved and we no way to get access to it. Here are some images our agent was able to snap of his screen saver before it was moved.

Our field agent was also able to get a hold of Cramer's sequencer but couldn't make any progress from there. See what you can do with it. The sequencer is available NMS Network console via the command `run sequencer`.
